

Self-led ideas for schools to support Year of the Toad

Year of the Toad

In the last 30 years, common toads have declined by 68% in the UK

This was the findings of a study published in 2016 by Froglife and partners from the University of Zurich. In response, Froglife have launched the Year of the Toad campaign to raise awareness of this dramatic decline, and to raise money for positive action. And you can help! We have developed some adaptable activities with a toady theme which you can do with your classes. Some are just ideas you can adapt for your group, and others have resources and examples you can download. Activities

Tuppence a Toad

If we had even a couple of pence for every toad our volunteers help cross the road, we would be able to save many more amphibians

Your class could support the work Froglife do around Toads on Roads by:

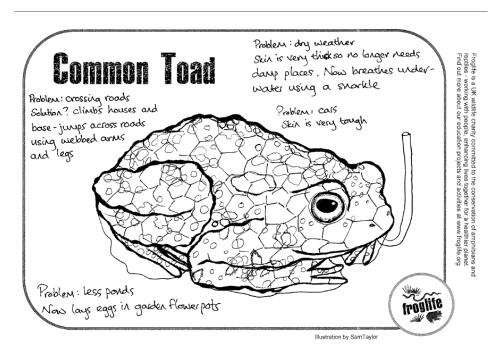

- Encouraging people to donate their small change to our Tuppence a Toad campaign
- Putting on a fundraising event (see our fundraising guide here)
- Find out if there is a toad patrol near you, and what your class could do the help

Super-hero animals:

- Differentiated prompts, and example toad and newt provided
- Indoor activity
- Adapt a toad to cope with the threats that they are facing
- Use the basic or detailed prompts to help young people to think about the problems toads are facing, and come up with ideas of how they might evolve to overcome them
- Annotate the picture of a toad with their superhero powers
- Take a photo and share it with Froglife
- Here's an example of a superhero toad

Video challenge

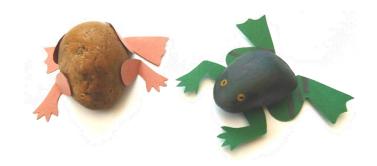

- Shoot a 3 minute video about toads.
- Indoor or outdoor activity
- Here are some ideas for a topic:
 - The life-cycle of a toad
 - The problems that toads face, and what people can do to help
 - The Toads on Roads project
- Share your video with Froglife

Pebble toads

- Instructions and templates provided
- Indoor activity
- Craft a toad out of a pebble and paper
- Add identification features
